The 'Senior Bus' is running and available to groups of 10 or more

The "Senior Bus," operated by the Westchester County Office for the Aging, is now running.

The Bus, which will accommodate up to twenty people, will be used to take seniors on shopping trips, to health programs, lectures, workshops, and special events. The service is offered specifically for groups of senior citizens at senior apartment buildings, neighborhood churches, synagogues, clubs and centers.

The Westchester County Office for the Aging Community Transportation Program will arrange flexible pickup schedules and a suggested contribution system will be implemented, depending on trip distance, number of passengers and time of day. The fee will range from approximately $2 per person for a half-day roundtrip and $5 per person for the entire day, roundtrip.

Arrangements for use of the "Senior Bus" can be made through the Westchester County Office for the Aging. A minimum of 10 passengers is required to participate. The phone number for the Community Transportation Program is (914) 682-3008.

B. Dalton gives $1,000 grant to Westchester Literacy Volunteers

Literacy Volunteers of Westchester County has been awarded a $1,000 grant from the B. Dalton Bookseller National Literacy Initiative. The money will go to help train volunteer tutors and teach the more than 470 students in the program.

B. Dalton, which has stores in Yonkers and Jefferson Valley, provides financial support to local adult literacy organizations to expand their programs for non-reading adults.

Since 1983, B. Dalton has contributed over $900,000 to local literacy programs and $3 milion as a corporate response to the national literacy problem.

Adult illiteracy is at crisis proportions, both locally and nationally, according to Carl Grath, regional manager of B. Dalton Bookseller. "The National Literacy Initiative is an effort on the part of B. Dalton to bring about a positive solution in the illiteracy problem," he noted. An estimated one in five American adults—23 million—are functionally illiterate, according to a study by the U.S. Department of Education. The B. Dalton National Literacy Initiative is a four-year, $3 million corporate response to the national literacy problem. Through the literacy initiative, the company provides funding, consultative and administrative support to literacy programs around the country that use volunteers. In addition, the company has assumed a national leadership role in the literacy movement, applying its corporate and human resources toward increasing public awareness of the illiteracy problem and bringing together the public, private and non-profit sectors to work as partners in solving the problem.

MONY Run will benefit homeless of Westchester—open to all runners

The 3rd Annual Westchester County MONY Run is slated for Sun., Oct. 6, starting at 10:30am, on the Bronx River Parkway. This year's race, sponsored by the Westchester County Department of Parks, Recreation and Conservation, MONY Financial Services and Gannett Westchester-Rockland Newspapers, is being held for the benefit of homeless families in Westchester.

The MONY Run is a 10K (6.2 mile) road race and 2-mile "Fun Run" and is open to men, women and youngsters of all ages. It is sanctioned by MAC (Metropolitan Athletic Congress).

Runners will be grouped in six categories according to age, both male and female, from 17 and under to 60 and over. Awards will be given to first, second and third place winners in all road runner categories, men's and women's divisions. Novice runners are encouraged to enter the 2-mile "Fun Run." Race and health walkers are also welcome. Special awards will be given to winners in the "Fun Run" and Racewalking categories.

Four-member corporate teams (2 men and 2 women) may also register in the "Corporate Cup Challenge" division of the race. A "Corporate Cup" award will be given to the winning team. All runners finishing the race within one hour will be eligible to win valuable prizes.

The race will be run entirely on the Bronx River Parkway, beginning and ending at the Westchester County Center in White Plains. For safety and convenience of the runners, the Parkway will be completely closed to vehicular traffic during the race.

A minimum donation of $6 is required for entry in the race. All entry fees will be donated to the Coalition for the Homeless in Westchester. Applications are available at all County parks and golf courses or by calling the Westchester County Department of Parks, Recreation and Conservation, Leisure Sports Division at (914) 285-2650.

Free T-shirts will be given to the first 1,000 entrants.

For more information, call (914) 285-2650 or 285-2541.
